主旨: Invitation to ENGCOMM 2027

Dear National Taiwan University,

I hope this message finds you well.

My name is Nidhi, and I am a fourth-year Data Science student writing on behalf of the executive team of the Engineering and Commerce Case Competition (ENGCOMM) at Concordia University in Montreal. We are excited to invite National Taiwan University to participate in the 14th edition of ENGCOMM, taking place from February 16–21, 2027.

As the world's only international undergraduate case competition that brings together engineering and business students, ENGCOMM provides a one-of-a-kind opportunity for students to collaborate across disciplines and apply their skills to complex industry challenges.

Given your strong commitment to academic excellence and student success, we believe ENGCOMM would provide a valuable opportunity for students to apply their knowledge in a collaborative, real-world setting. The competition encourages participants to work across disciplines, develop innovative solutions, and strengthen their problem-solving and communication skills. It is designed not only to challenge students academically, but also to immerse them in real-time problem-solving and cross-functional teamwork, making it a powerful complement to the kind of experiential education you champion.

Over the years, ENGCOMM has welcomed top universities from across Europe, Asia, Africa, Oceania, and the Americas. Our past sponsors include industry leaders such as L3Harris, General Electric, Bombardier, PwC, and SAP.

Why participate in ENGCOMM?

- Multidisciplinary Challenge: Compete in a unique case competition uniting engineering and business students.
- Industry Connections & Career Growth: Connect with global sponsors and engage with alumni who have launched their careers through ENGCOMM's partner companies.
- Real-World Cases: Solve practical industry challenges designed to test and expand students' skills.
- Montreal Experience: Take part in an unforgettable week-long event in the heart of Montreal, one of North America's most vibrant and innovative cities.

We would be delighted to have your university participate in ENGCOMM and look forward to hearing from you soon.
